

Existenz

An International Journal in Philosophy, Religion, Politics, and the Arts

Volume 8

Number 1

Spring 2013

ISSN 1932-1066

TABLE OF CONTENTS
Volume 8/1, Spring 2013

Editors' Introduction	iii
Alan M. Olson, Helmut Wautischer Boston University, Sonoma State University
The Flame of Eternity	1
Alan M. Olson Boston University
Krzysztof Michalski as Educator	3
James Dodd New School for Social Research, New York
Flamme bin ich sicherlich – Flame am I...: To Eternity	7
Babette Babich Fordham University
On Michalski's Nietzsche, Christianity, and Cognition	16
Tom Rockmore Duquesne University
Philosophical Pathos and Spirituality	21
Sigrídur Thorgeirsdóttir University of Iceland, Reykjavik
Comments on Krzysztof Michalski's The Flame of Eternity	25
Lydia Voronina Boston, MA
The Seven Sleepers of Ephesus	31
Herbert W. Mason Boston University

EDITORS' INTRODUCTION

This volume contains four critical reviews of the English edition of the late Krzysztof Michalski's The Flame of Eternity: An Interpretation of Nietzsche's Thought, Princeton University Press, 2012. The book has also been published in Polish, Russian, and is forthcoming in a French edition. The reviews are by senior scholars, Babette Babich, Professor of Philosophy at Fordham University; Sigridur Thorgeirsdottir, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Iceland; Lydia Voronina, US Department of State, retired; Tom Rockmore, Professor of Philosophy at Duquesne University. James Dodd, Professor and Chair in the Philosophy Department at the New School of Social Science in New York authored the introductory tribute to "Krzysztof Michalski as Educator."

Owing to matters of health and other contingencies, the KJSNA panel review of Krzysztof Michalski's Flame of Eternity, scheduled for the Annual Meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association in Atlanta (2012) did not take place. Nevertheless, our panelists agreed, as Babette Babich put it, Michalski's Flame of Eternity is a remarkable invitation to read Nietzsche "without guiderails," as it were. Thus all our reviewers are in agreement, for various reasons with Charles Taylor's single word "exceptional" endorsement on the book's dustjacket cover, and are certainly different than Richard Schacht's early dismissal, viz., that he just doesn't understand "this kind of writing."

Also in this volume, an original novella by Herbert Mason, Professor Emeritus at Boston University, on the classic myth and medieval folktale "Seven Sleepers of Ephesus" casting new light on the development of Islamic Studies in the United States, especially studies in Sufism. Mason blends his own biographical information into a captivating narrative of an enduring love story with wit and wisdom, nicely balanced with suspense, and a keen observation of human behavior. We feel tempted to add the usual disclaimer, "any resemblance to real persons, dead or alive, or other real-life entities, past or present, is purely coincidental," but the final call will be for our readers to determine whether the characters in Mason's story are fictitious or real.

The Editors,
Alan M. Olson
Helmut Wautischer

EDITORS-IN-CHIEF

Alan M. Olson

Helmut Wautischer

ADVISORY BOARD

Elena Bezzubova

Andreas Cesana

Stephen A. Erickson

Helena Gourko

Tomoko Iwasawa

Raymond Langley

Gladys L. Portuondo

Kurt Salamun

Chris Thornhill

Gregory J. Walters

Mission Statement

The mission of Existenz is to encourage research and publication on problems and topics consistent with the general overview of Karl Jaspers, namely, the history of philosophy, phenomenology, existentialism, and hermeneutics; psychology, philosophy of religion, politics, culture, and the arts. This journal serves as a publication outlet for various international Jaspers societies, including those in the United States, Germany, Austria, Great Britain, Russia, and Japan, and also considers direct submissions of articles for online publication. Existenz is indexed in The Philosopher's Index.

Correspondence

Direct all correspondence to the editors as posted at www.existenz.us/submissionguidelines.html